From its inception the 1972-73 school year had promise of being "a very good year." It began with a winning football team that scored high in area statistics. Student Council sponsored various activities, such as a chili supper during Homecoming, to help finance the bookstore. Classes donated canned goods to give to needy families for the Christmas holidays. School spirit rose as the basketball season progressed. Importance of new teachers and facilities were realized. New faces became old friends, as the school body worked together to make this a year that will always be remembered.

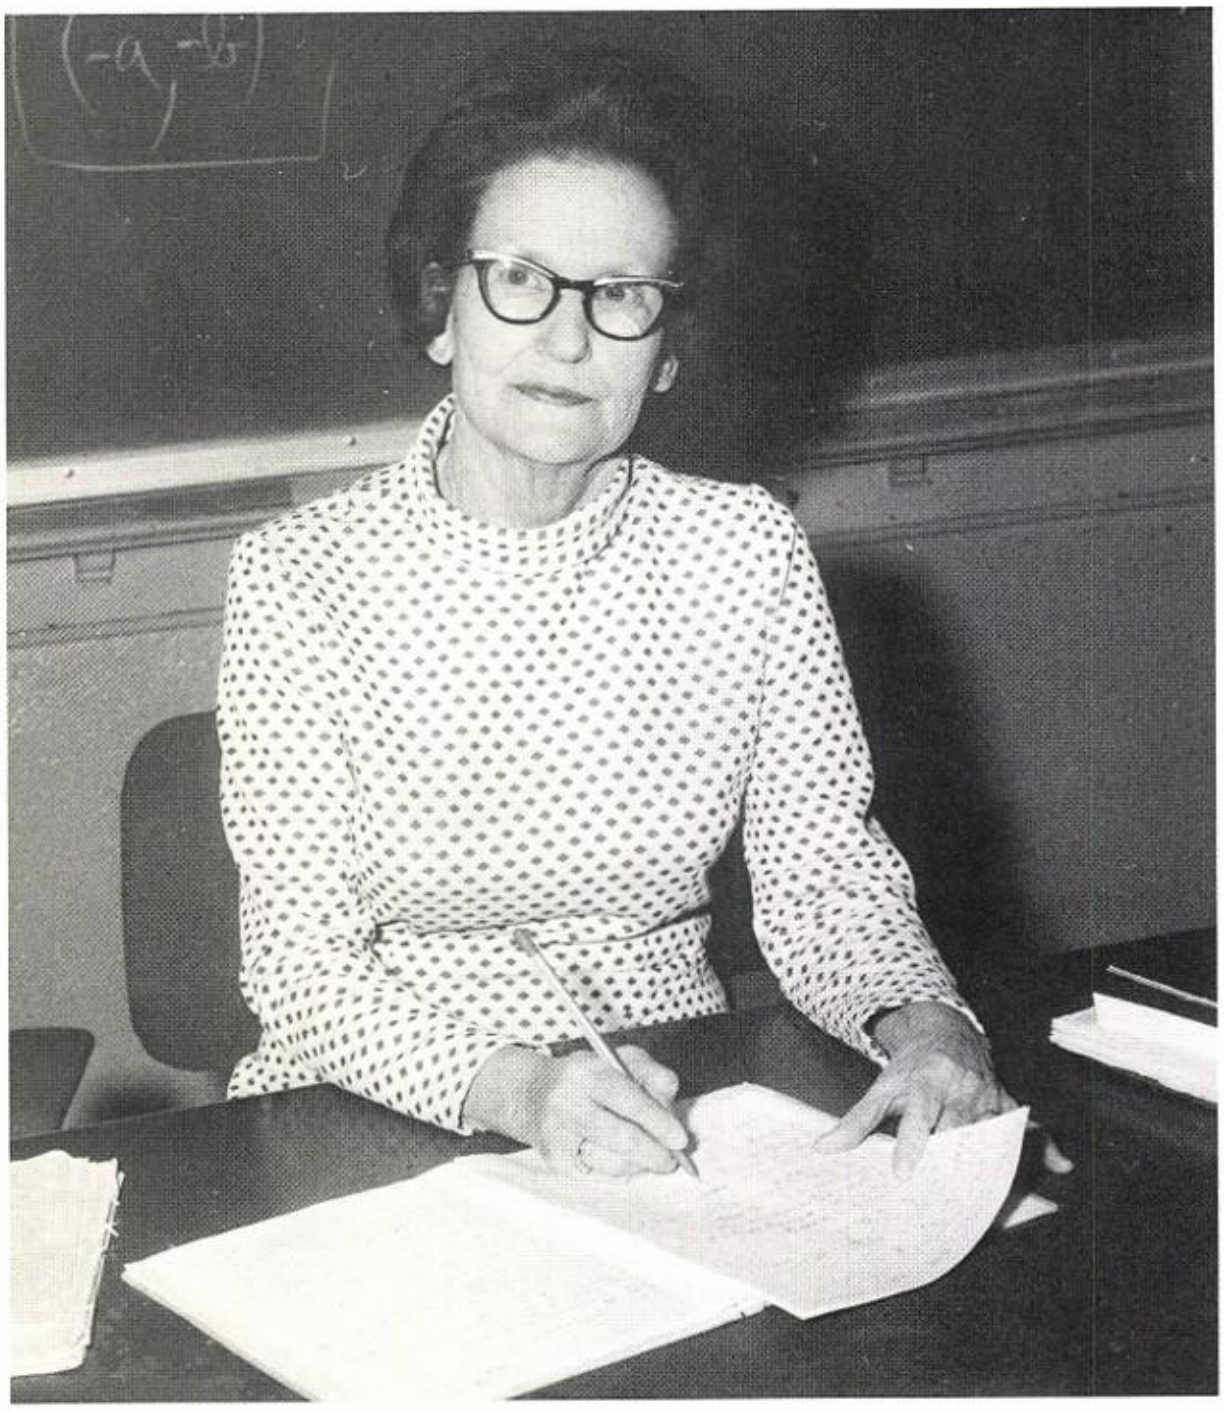
WE DEDICATE THE '73' EL TIGRE TO MRS. WILLIAMSON



On behalf of the class of 1973 and the annual staff, we wish to show our appreciation to Ida Mae Williamson for her hard work and valuable contribution to our school.

Mrs. Williamson is a graduate of the University of Alabama. During her freshman year she became a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, a national scholastic honor society for freshman women. Later she served as senior sponsor. In her senior year she was admitted to Mortar Board, a national honor organization for senior women with emphasis on scholarship, service, and leadership. She is also a member of Pi Mu Epsilon, an honorary math organization, Kappa Delta Pi, a national honorary educational fraternity, and Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest international honorary scholastic fraternity.

After her graduation, she taught in Ava, Percyville, and Evansville, Illinois before coming to Dupo in March of 1943. Mrs. Williamson left in May of 1944 to raise her family and returned in 1953. The math teams of Dupo have won awards every year under her direction. She introduced and sponsored Mu Alpha Theta, an honorary math club, at Dupo High. She has been the yearbook sponsor for twenty years. Last year based on the quality of the annual, Dupo High was granted a charter to Quill and Scroll, The international honorary society for high school journalists.

Mrs. Williamson is the wife of Norman C. Williamson. They have two children, a son — John and a daughter — Jan, now Mrs. Robert Ledbetter.

Through her years at DCHS, Mrs. Williamson has been a friend as well as a teacher. It is with both pleasure and pride, that we say thank you to her for her many hours of dedication and unselfishness.

At D.C.H.S., 1972-73, was a very good year for new and old activities. The summer supplement arrived (lower right). Cheerleaders cheered during assemblies (lower left). Seniors worked on construction of their homecoming float (upper left). Dennis Stanger video taped home basketball games (center right).

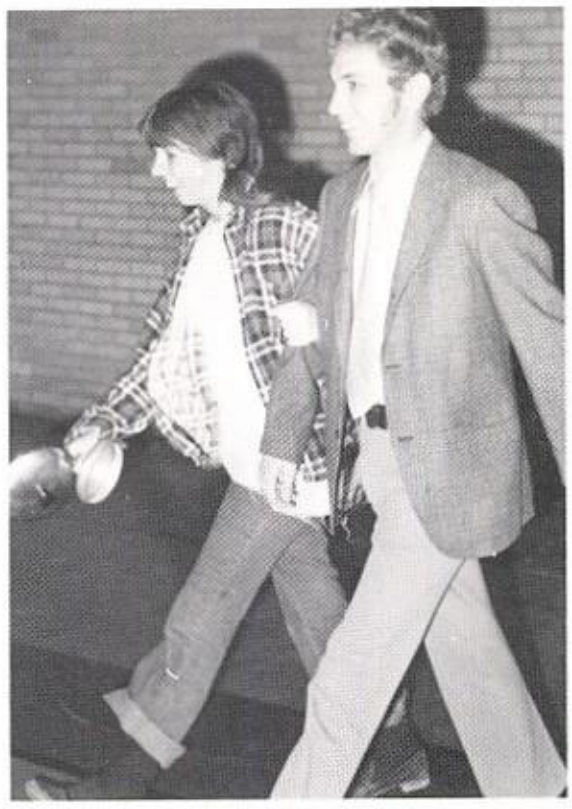
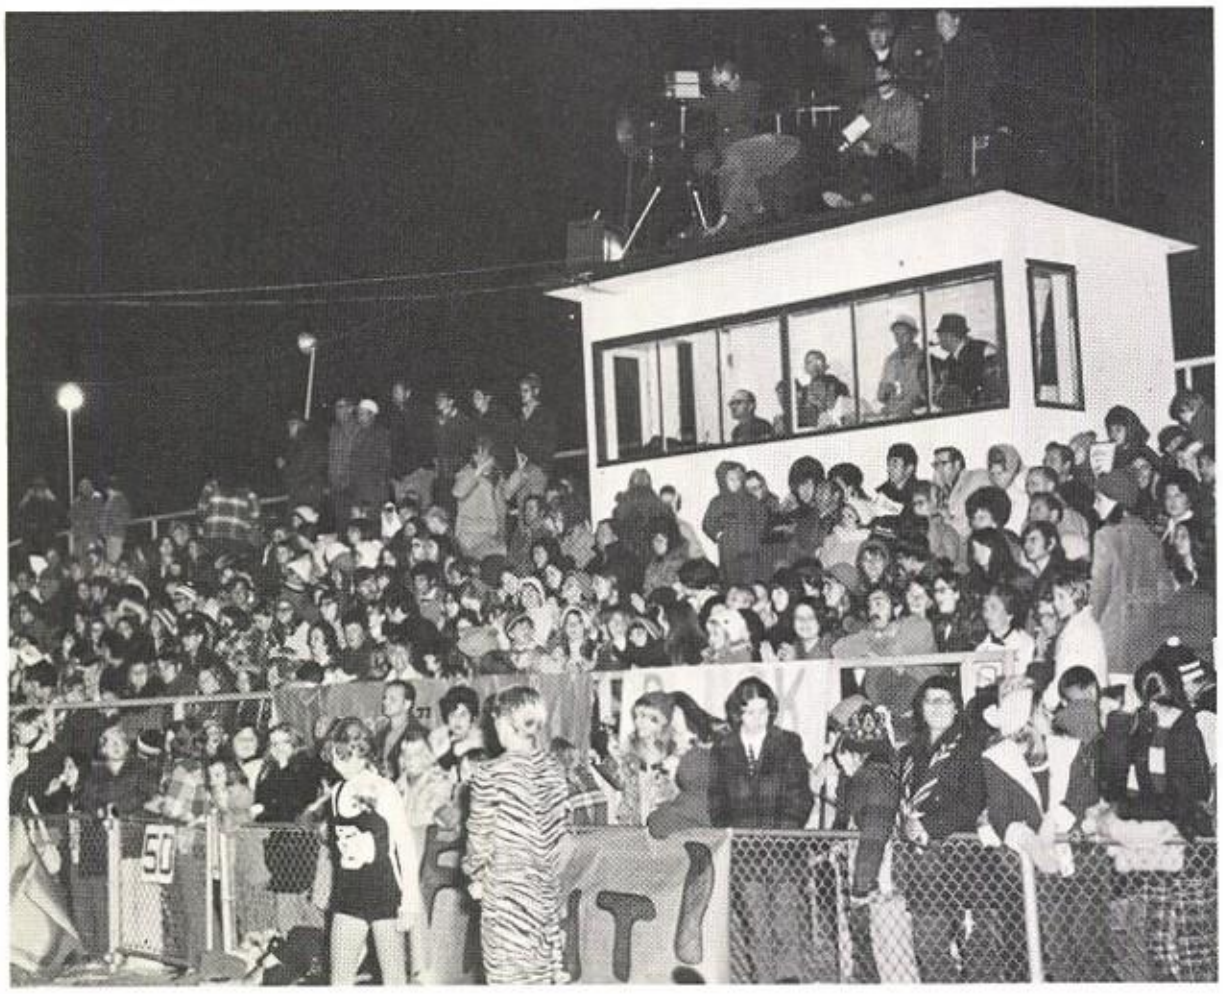
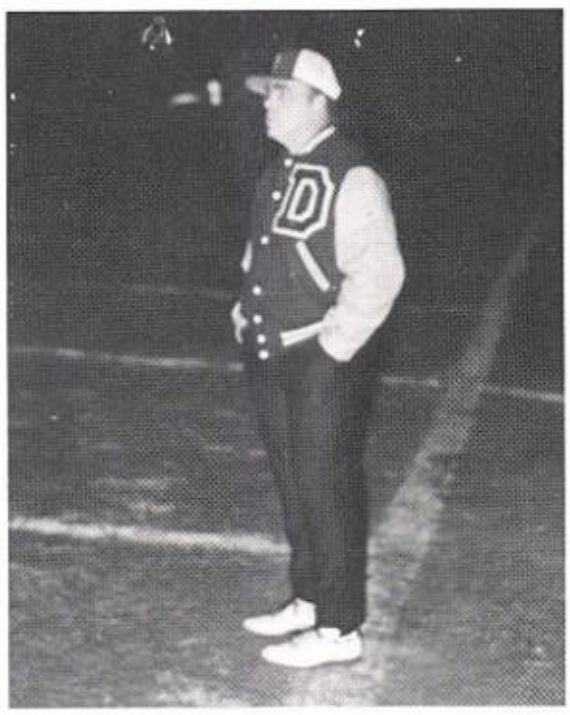
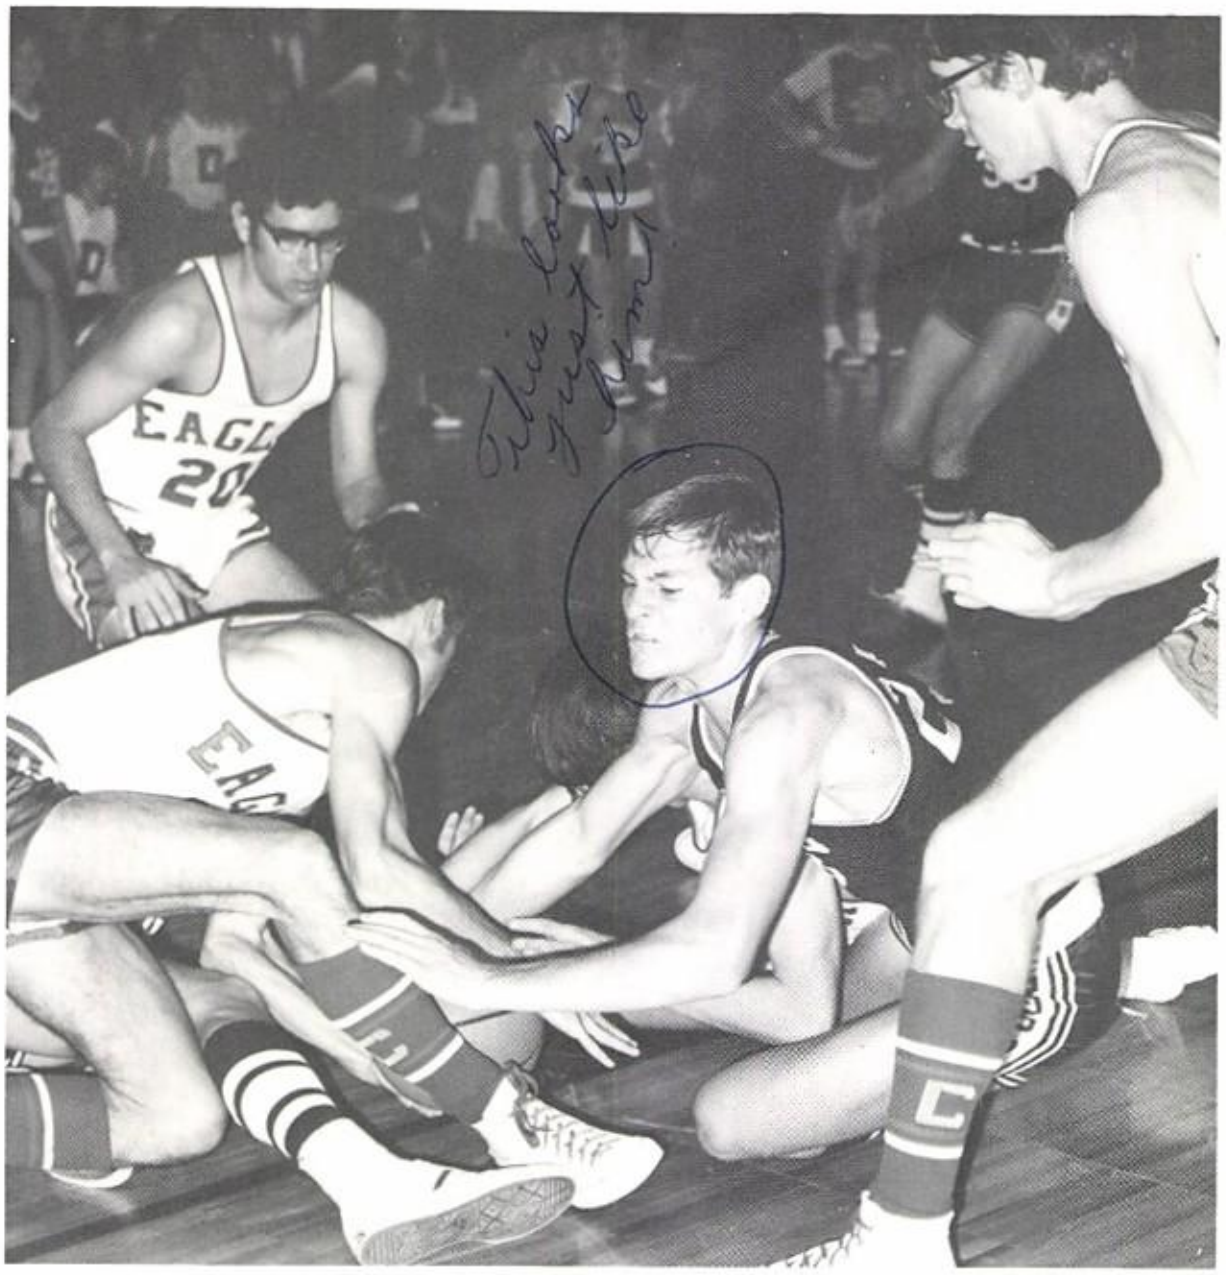
It was a very good year for sports of all kinds. Sadie Hawkins finally got her man. The spectators got their chance to participate by shooting free throws to win a cake, and the girls proved that football isn't just for boys. The football Tigers had a winning season for the first time in four years.

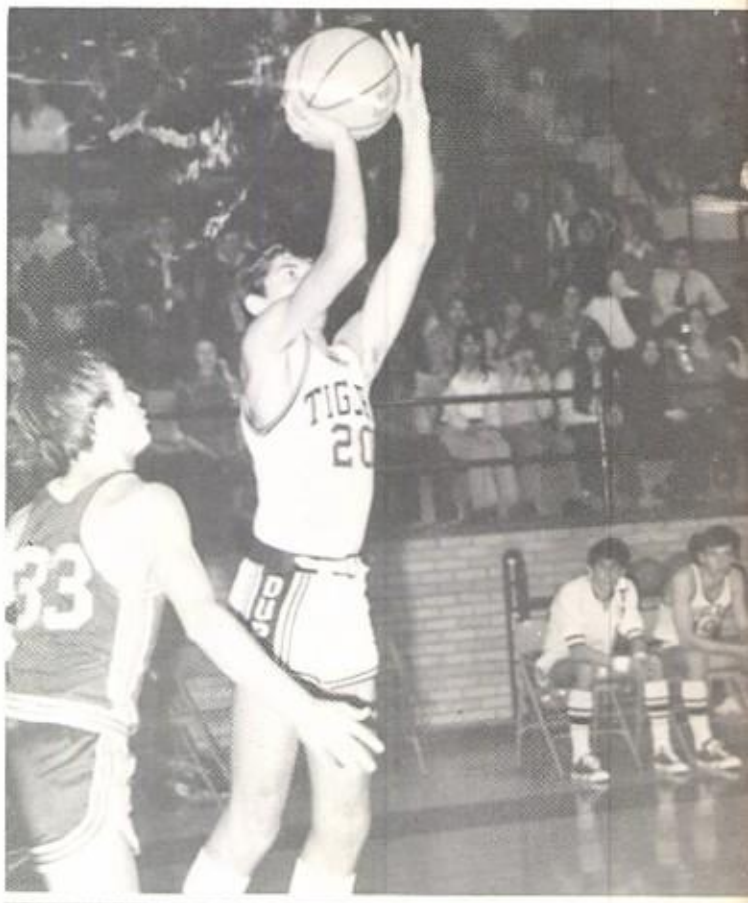


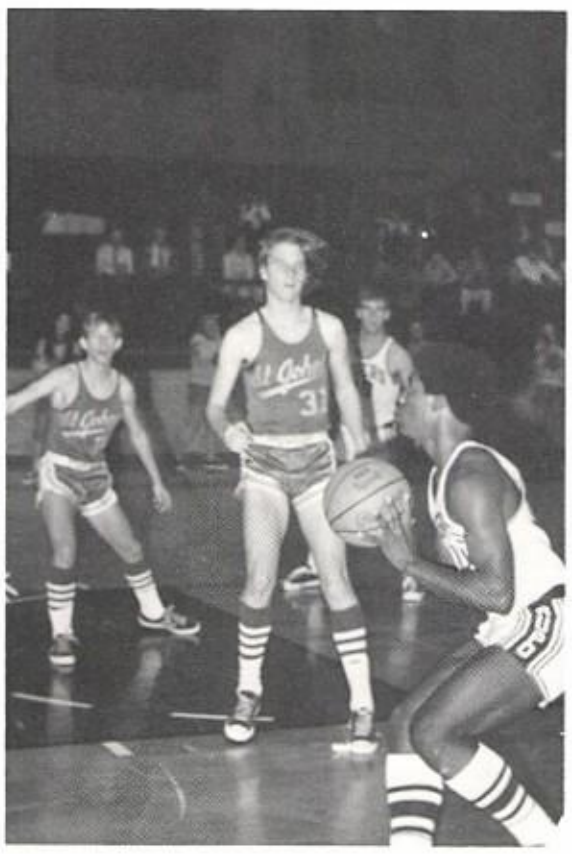




IT WAS A VERY GOOD YEAR







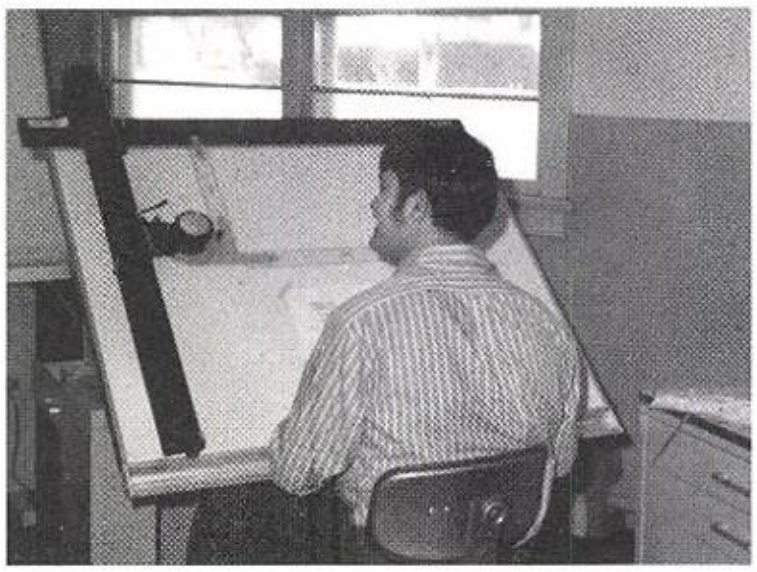
This year our basketball Tigers got off to a great start. Sparked by seniors J. Bryant, D. Douchant, D. Harrelson, R. Kloess, and J. Parrin, the Tigers became a contender for the Cahokia Conference title.

36 PUPILS ENROLLED AT BECK

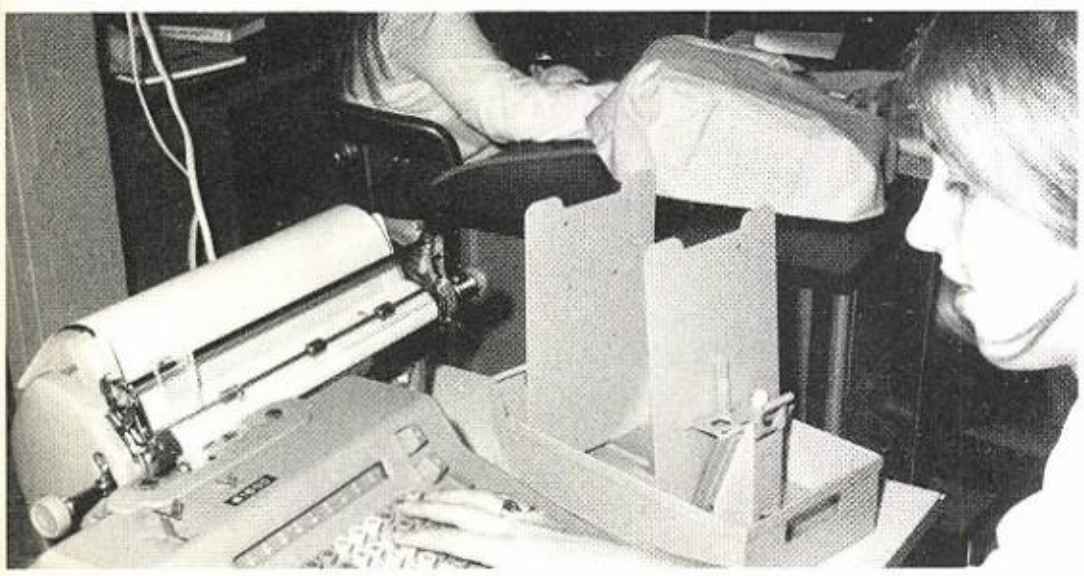
The Beck Vocational Center was started in an attempt to fill the growing need of students who are not college bound. The demand for college graduates has decreased sharply in the last two years while some occupations in the labor market cannot be filled by trained, skilled labor. An example of this is the auto mechanic trade where there is a need for good, skilled mechanics. The goal of the Beck Vocational Center is to provide a good education, in each of the courses offered, so a student will have enough skills to go out into the labor market on a competitive basis. Dupo had 36 pupils enrolled at the end of the first semester.

Some of the members of the Electronics and small appliance class are (above) Jackie Weaver, Bob Smith, John Lattina, Ricky Davis, and Allen Ladyman.

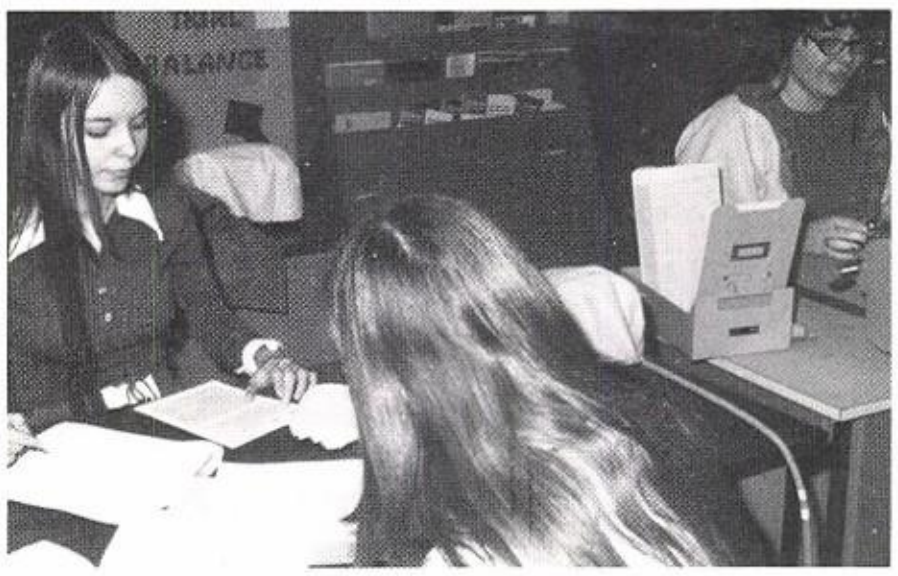
D. Morris and D. Arras check a printout sheet for errors as J. Feltmeyer and R. Wisdom run a program through the computer.



Bob Vickers draws up a plan in his drafting class at Beck.



Sherry Accord works an NCR-160 bookkeeping machine in machine accounting class.



Donna Lovell and Diana Valleroy work on a problem in accounting class.

ADMINISTRATORS CO-ORDINATE SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

School board members, Front row, left to right: Vernon Marlen, Robert Cook, Tom Pulcher, Willie Johnson, Jr. Back row: Freddie Harris, Harlyn Hubbs, and Harold Thompson are shown holding their meeting in the new superintendent's office.

The members of the Board of Education are the men behind the scenes who create our school policy. They strive constantly to provide the highest possible caliber of educational experience for all the students of School District 196. With this objective in mind several changes have been made this year. The study hall was redecorated and divided to provide the students with a place to study or relax in a pleasant atmosphere. The old band room was divided into a print shop and art room. A dark room for film developing was built. The old bus garage became a music room and superintendent's office.

Helen Arras, secretary to Mr. Patrick Mudd, Superintendent.

Mr. Roy Ragsdale, Principal

This year D.C.H.S. has a new principal.

Before coming to Dupo, Mr. Ragsdale was an assistant principal for a school district at Belvidere, Illinois and at Bayless and Valley Park districts in St. Louis County.

Mr. Ragsdale has a master's degree from Arkansas State University and has done doctoral work at the University of Mississippi, where his degree major is school administration and curriculum.

Mildred Reichert, secretary to Mr. Roy Ragsdale, Principal

Betty Fischer, Pam Riddle, and Mr. William Reynolds in the attendance office.

SUPERINTENDENT MOVES INTO NEW OFFICE

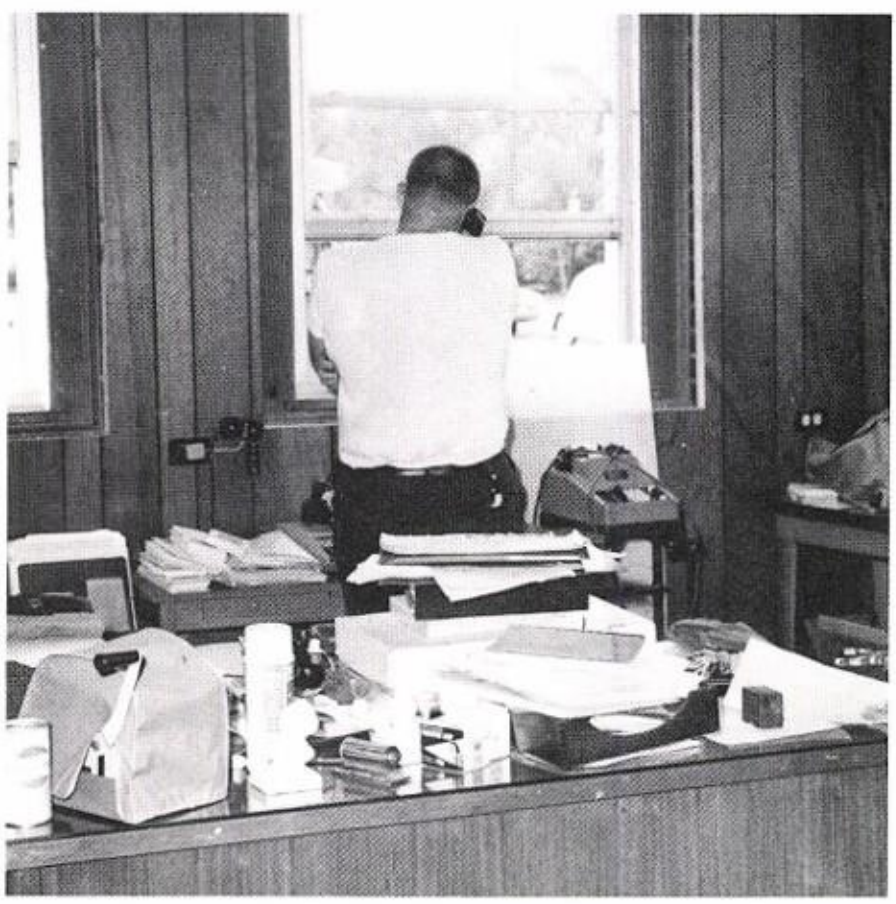
Mr. Patrick Mudd, Superintendent of District 196.

During the summer and fall a major remodeling project was undertaken. The largest area to be affected was the bus garage. Out of this area a new band room and superintendent's office was created.

The Superintendent's office provides a private office, adequate storage space and a meeting room for the Board of Education.

The old superintendent's office was converted into a classroom for Special Education class.

Leo Skidmore and Mrs. Patrick Mudd are assisting Mr. Mudd in getting settled in his new office.



Mr. Mudd carries on business as usual while in the process of moving into his new office.

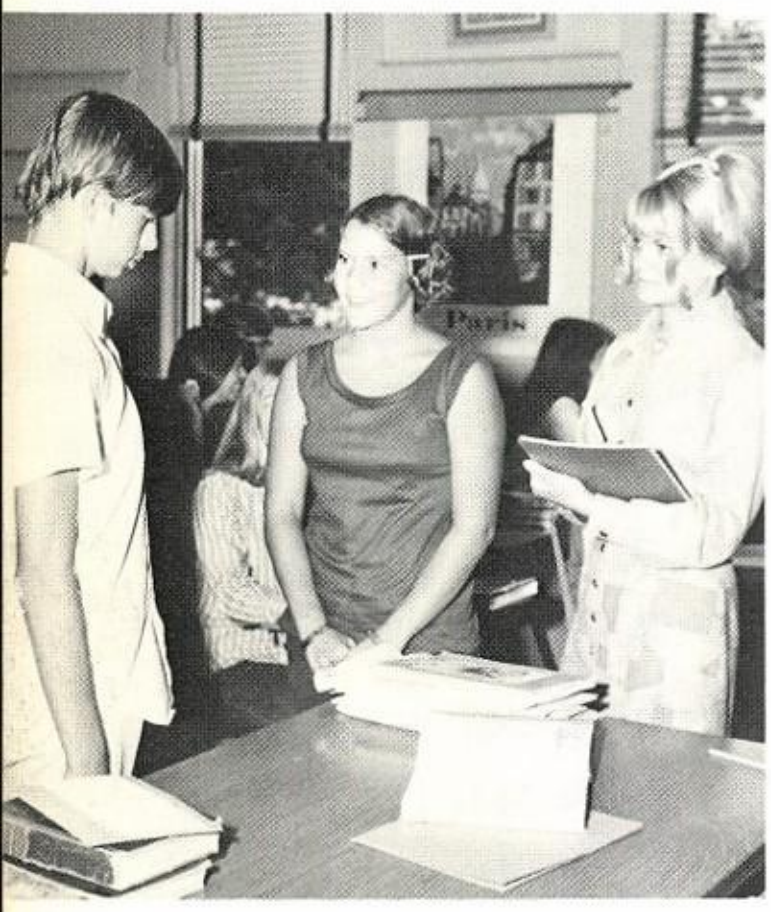
LANGUAGES — THE KEY

Learning English grammar and literature is a very important part of education. D.C.H.S. offers four years of study to every student. Each class teaches students to think and communicate effectively.

In her junior English class, Miss Raker is explaining some English terms.



Dan Freppon and Robyn Kelly are practicing their French dialogues in French I class.

The French class offered teaches students to think and talk in a foreign language. Both contribute to the achievement of a comprehensive education.

TO COMMUNICATION

Students in sophomore English class are doing an exercise in speech control.

SCIENCE DEVELOPS KNOWLEDGE AND SKILL

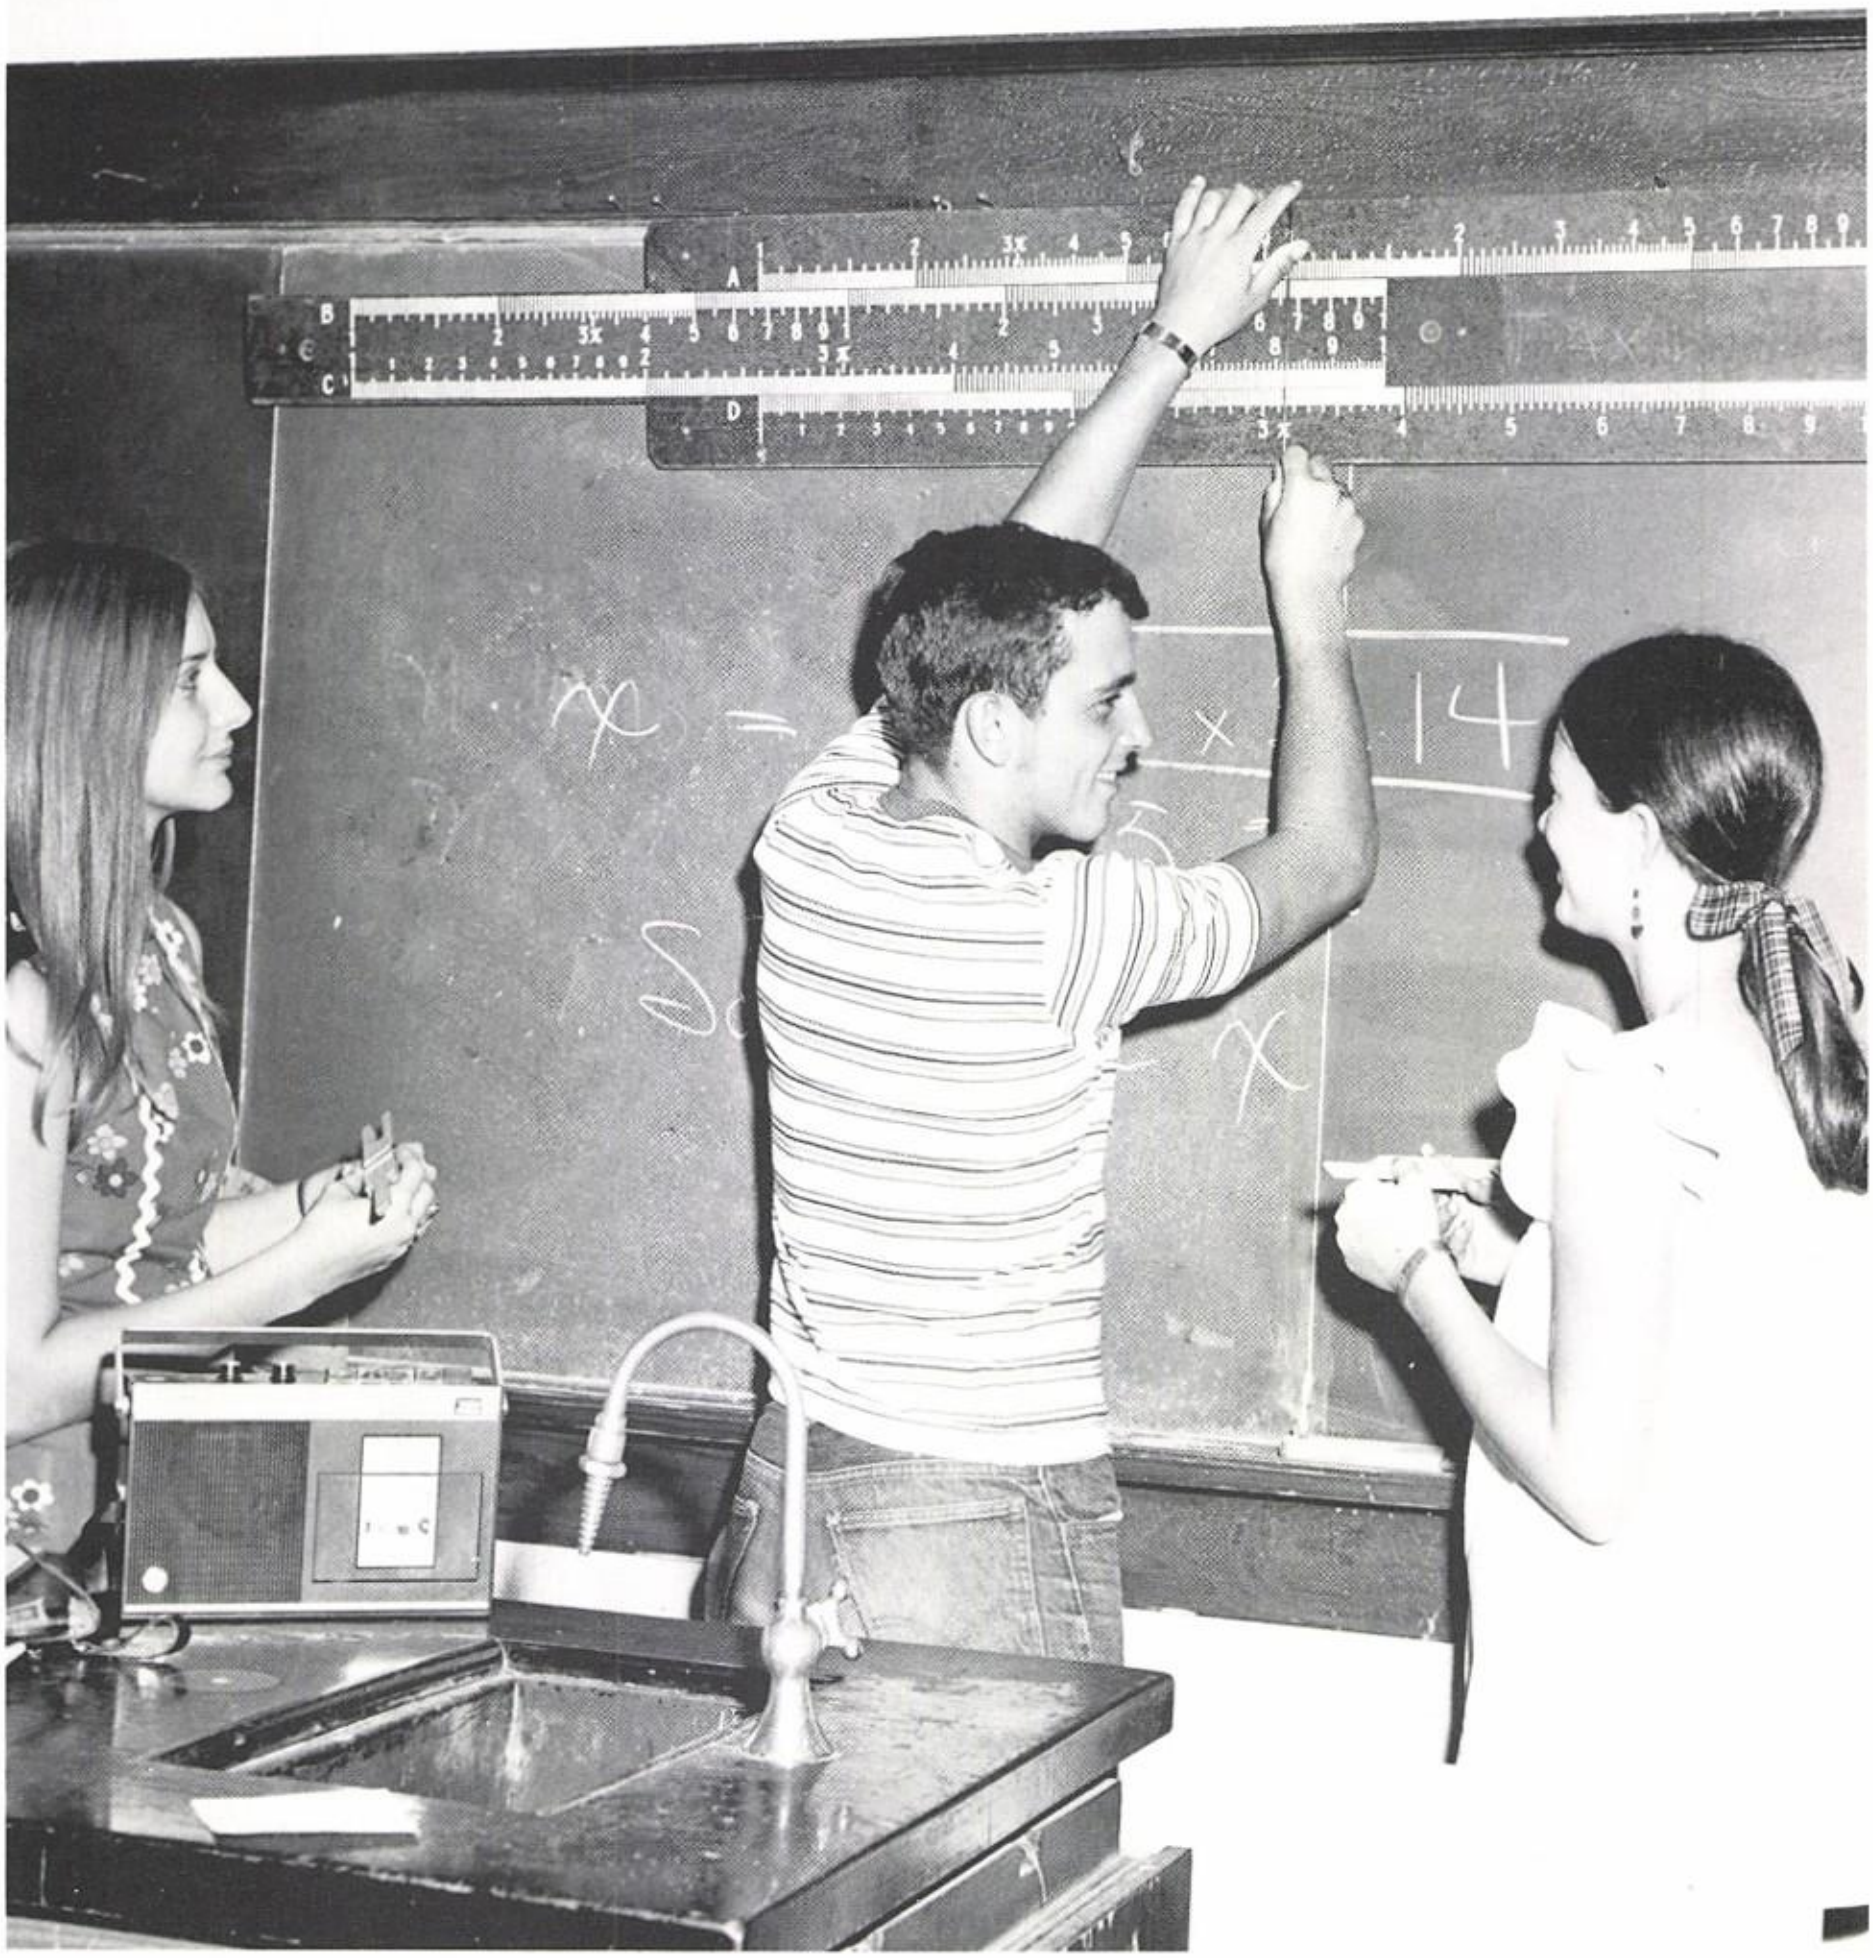
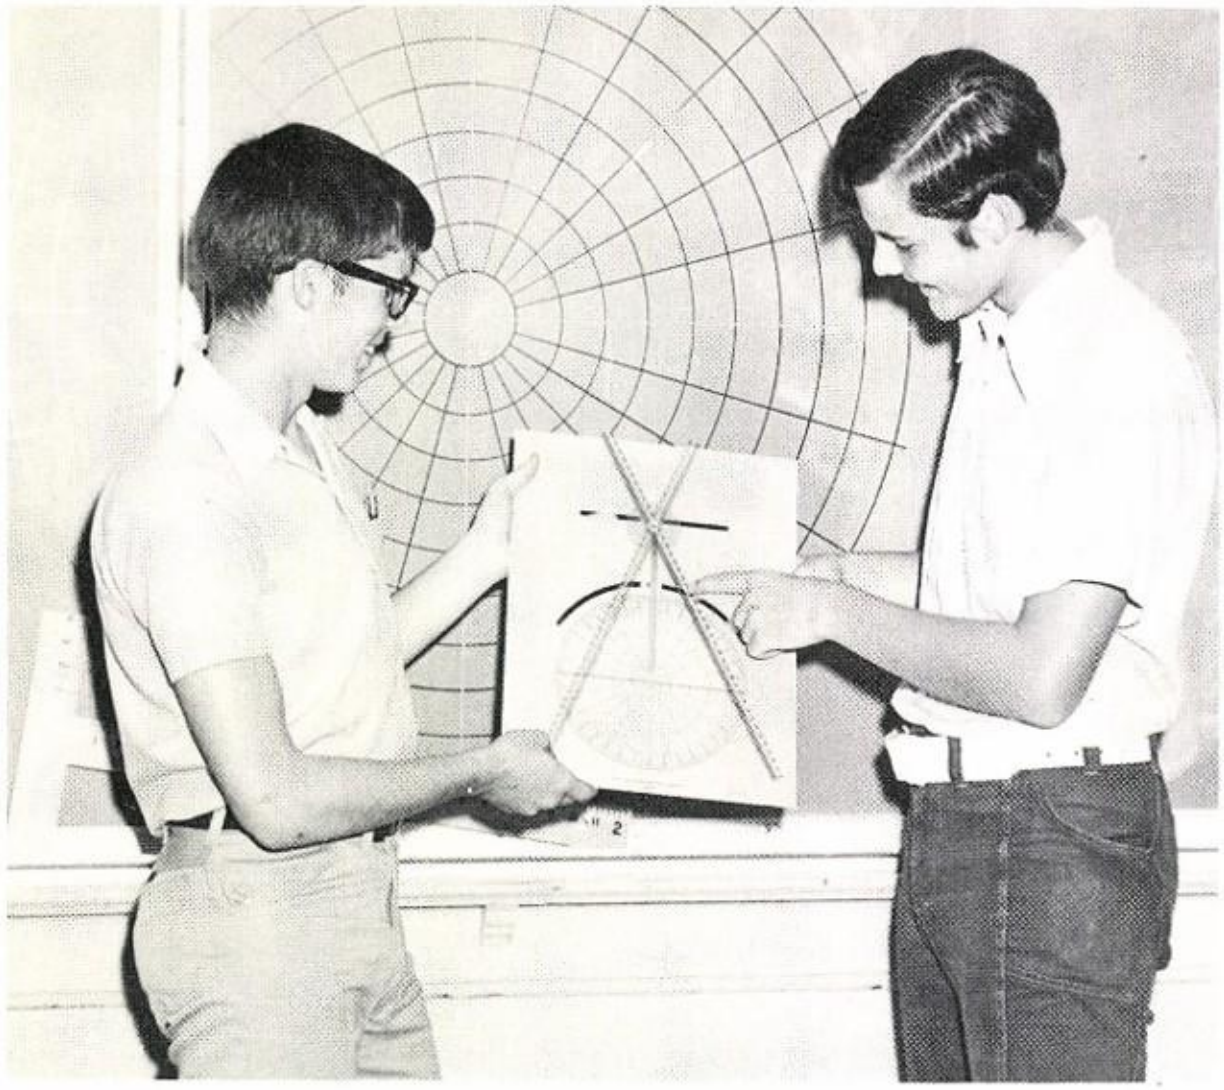
PHYSICS — A BASIS FOR ADVANCED STUDY

Science classes offered at D.C.H.S. are General Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. The main aim of these classes is to provide the students with a firm background for future study in these fields and for their practical application in everyday use.

John Morton demonstrates to Dana Ard and Kathy Frederick how to solve mathematical problems quickly by use of the slide rule. Physics is a science class closely related to Mathematics.

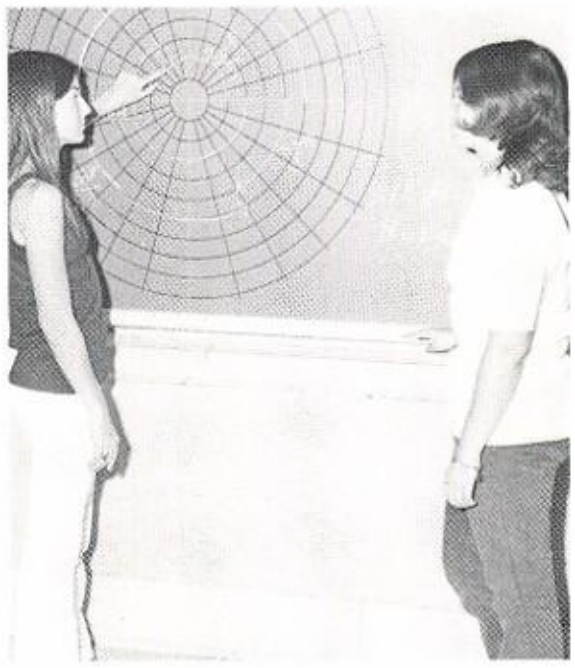


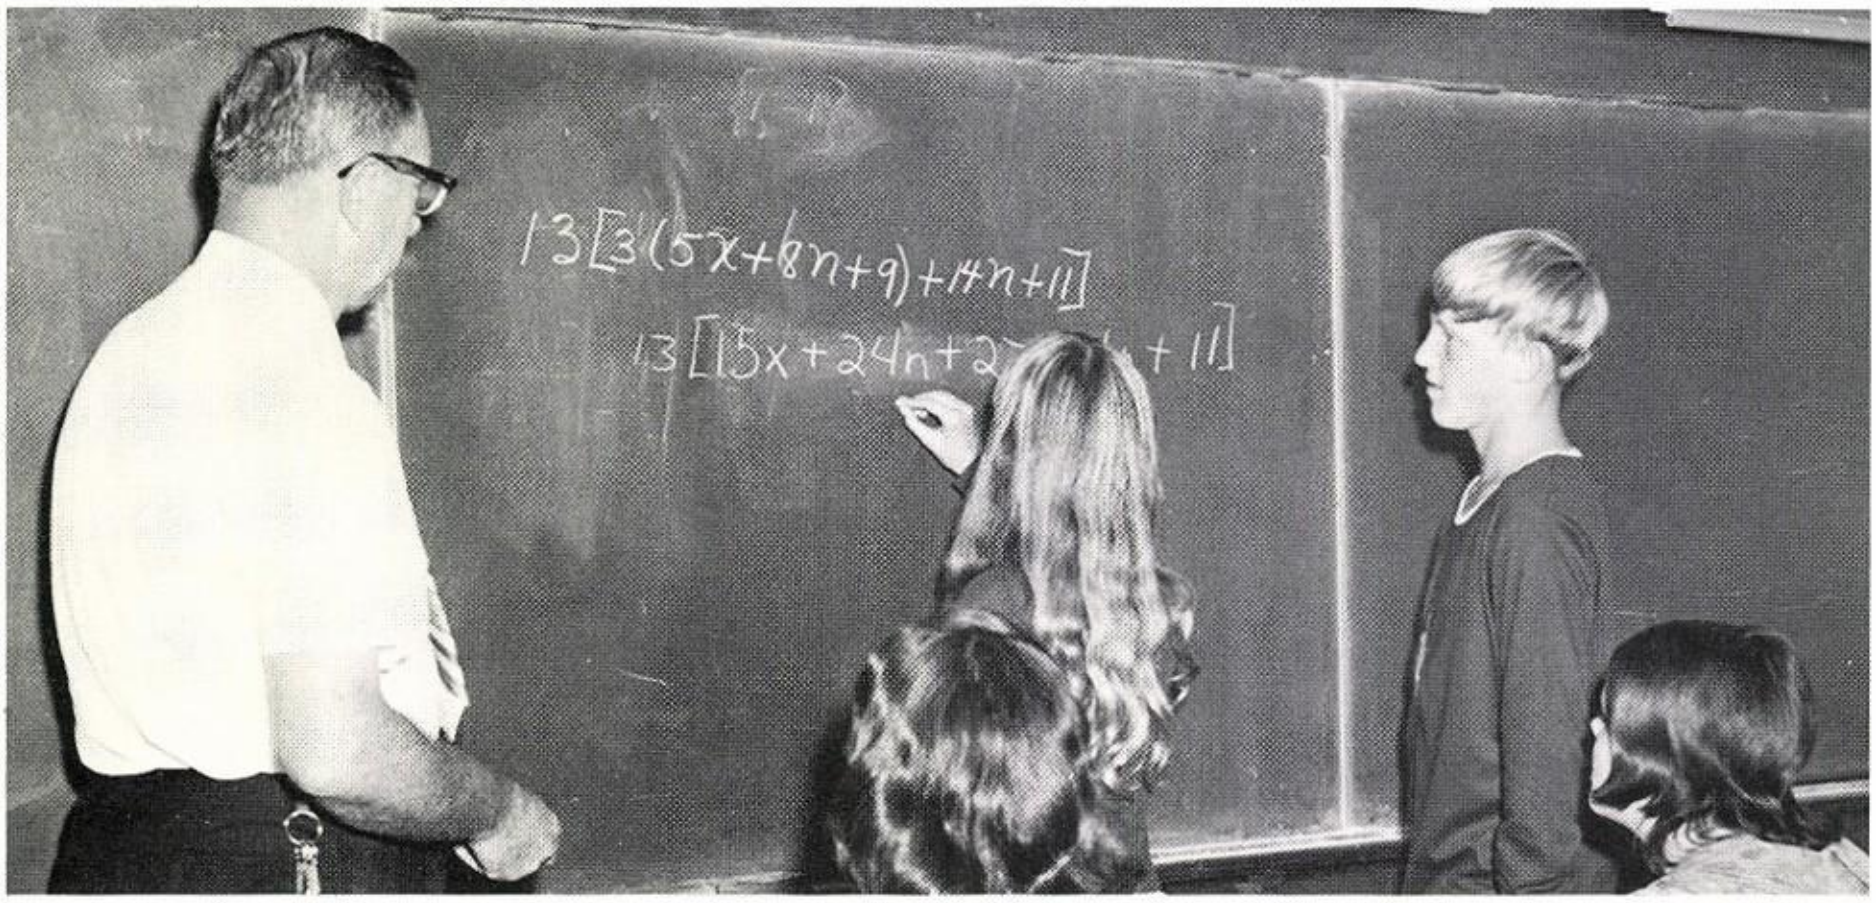
MATH REFLECTS AGE OF TECHNOLOGY



Pat Mudd and Mike Snow measure an angle formed by two secants by using a Welch Dynamic Instrument.

Mindy Mernick points out four pairs of coordinates which designate the same point.





Mr. Parkhill and Algebra I students watch as Patty Ramage solves a problem in removing symbols of grouping, and simplifying the expression.

Math students explore new aspects in their classes in Algebra, Geometry, and Elementary Mathematical Analysis.

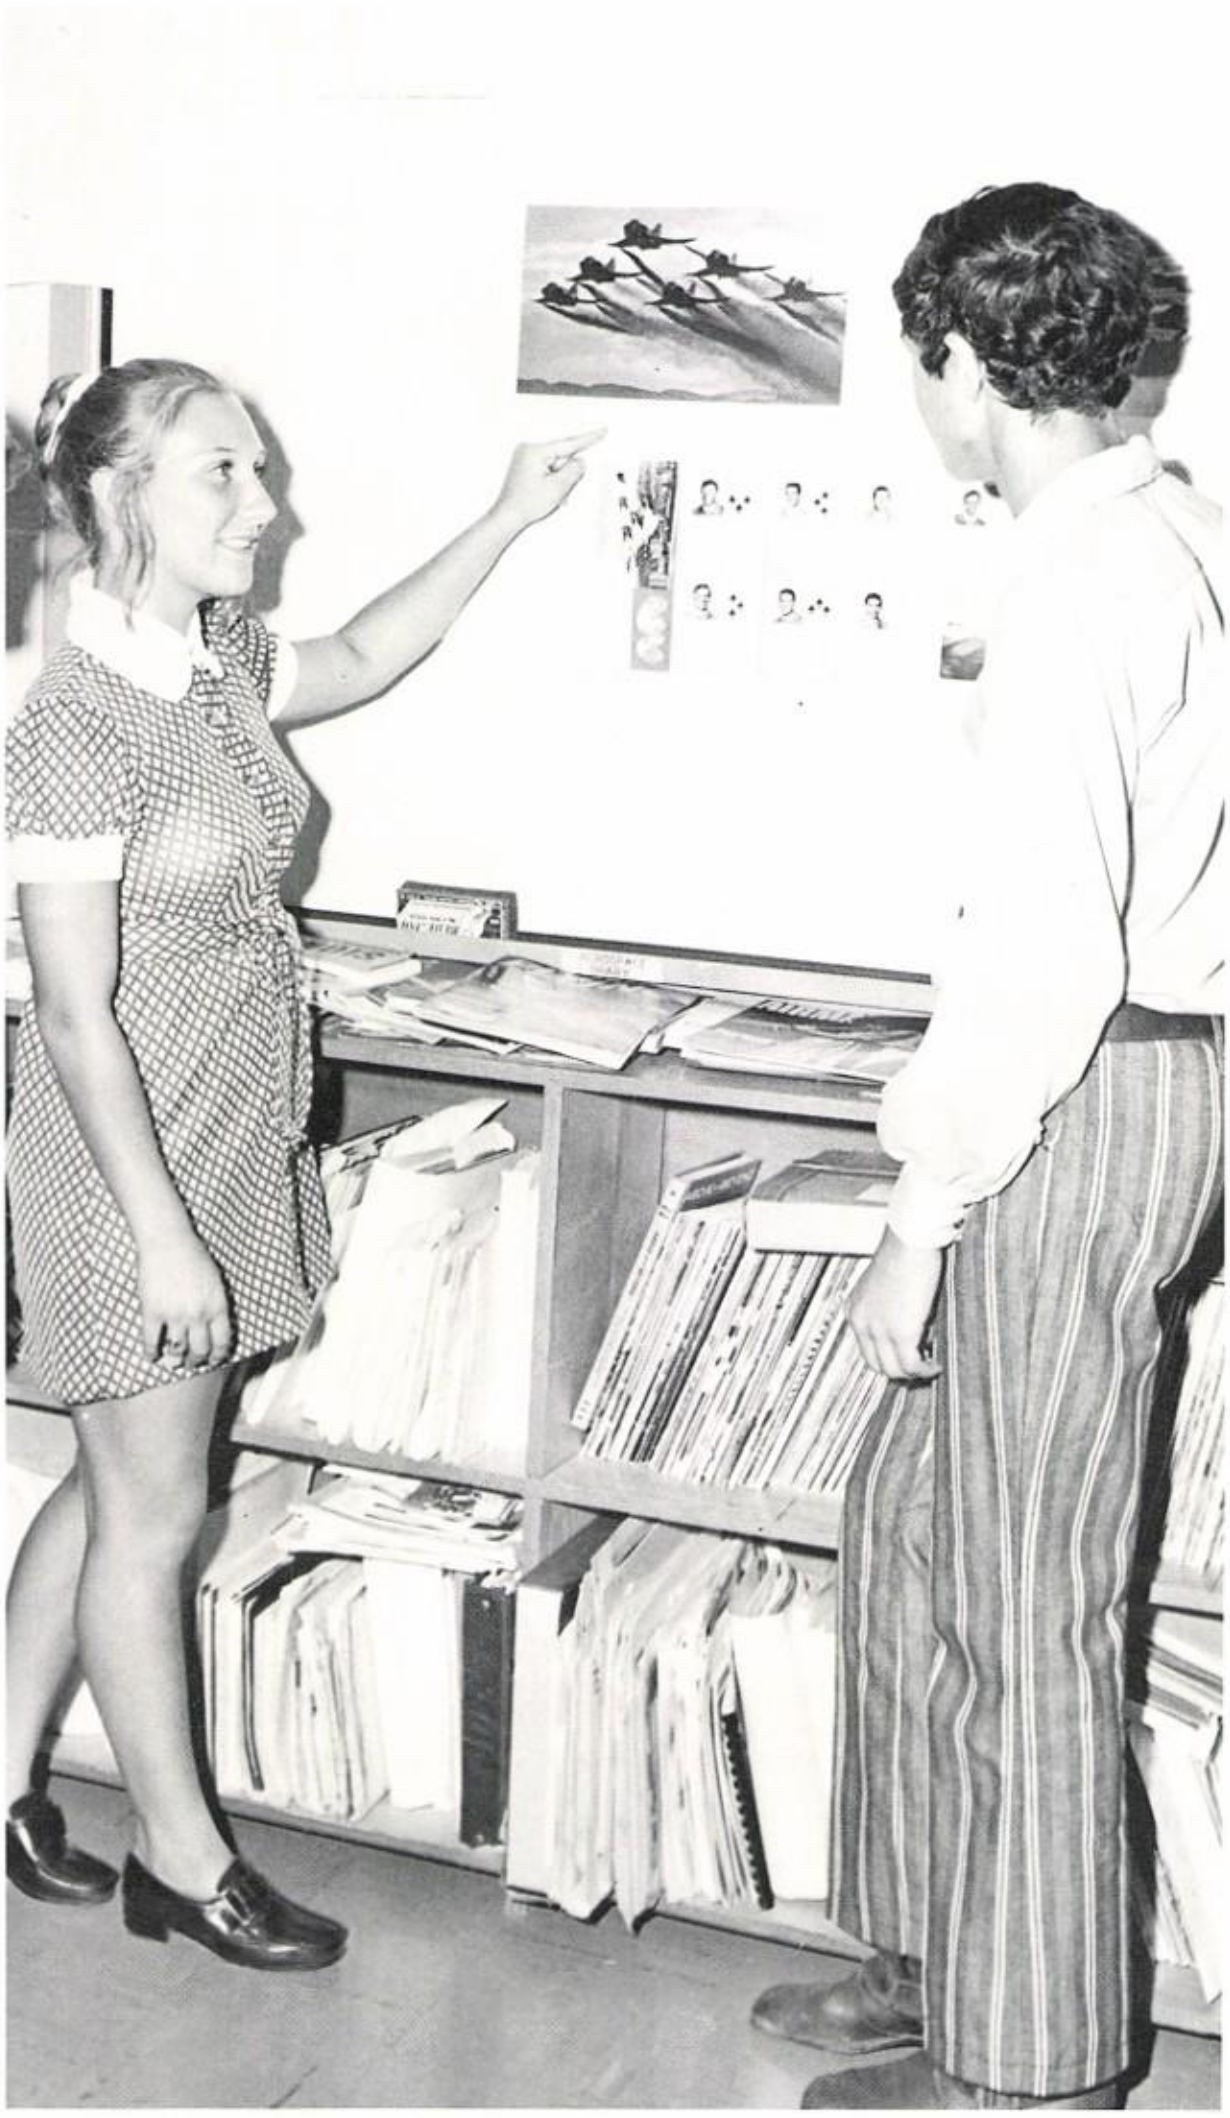
To assist them, a new blackboard has been installed in room 101.

With the assistance of Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Williamson the subjects are more easily understood.

AEROSPACE — DRAFTING — JOBS

D.C.H.S. was the first high school in Illinois to have an Aerospace Education class.

This class is one of the most popular in school. Students learn preflight facts, meteorology, navigation, and federal aviation regulations. The students gain experience in flying as well as ground rules.



Shirley Thielemann shows Dennis Casey the most common flight pattern.

Drafting students gain practical experience by designing and building scale models of homes, churches, and other buildings.

Some of these students go directly to work in industries as draftsmen when they graduate.

John Stoffel listens intently as Neil Phelps explains the purpose of wall foundations in the model.

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

Vocational courses are designed to provide training and skills necessary to compete in our mechanical world. These classes give the student a chance to work with industry at the level of their own abilities. Courses offered under the supervision of Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Kirn, and Mr. Stewart include printing, metal shop, wood shop, vocational drafting, and aerospace.

Mr. Kirn (right) is showing his class how to bend metal.

STUDENTS ACQUIRE HOMEMAKING SKILLS

Efforts in Home Economics classes are directed toward preparation of individuals for homemaking now and in the future. These classes assist students in coordinating homemaking skills and occupations outside the home. They train students for employment and stimulate careers in everyday art, interior decorating, child care, nursing, food management, health, and clothing. All girls are offered these courses under the guidance of Mrs. Jane Mosbacher.

Anita Cathers, Phyllis Noble, and Kay Womble are learning how to make monograms in Homemaking.

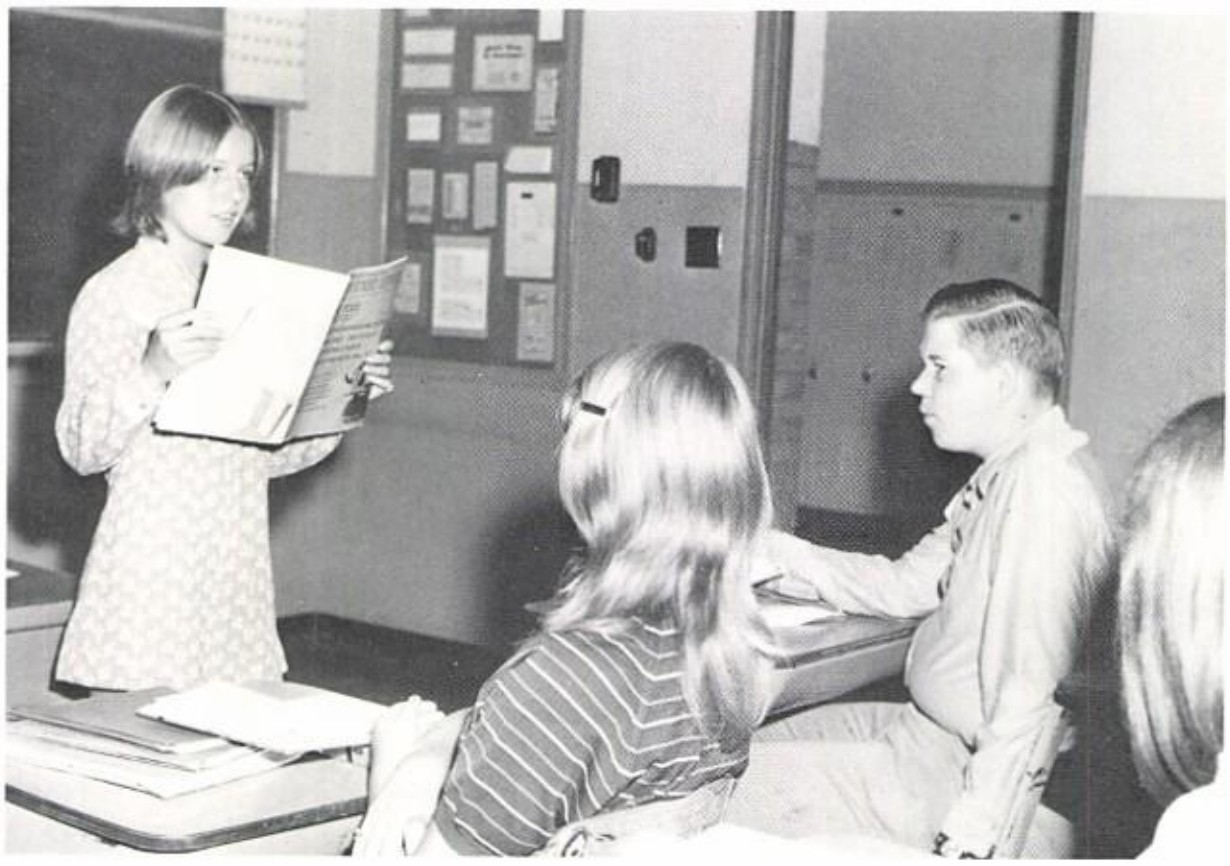
STUDENTS TODAY — SECRETARIES TOMORROW

Students interested in the secretarial sciences at Dupo have an opportunity to learn Shorthand, Typing, Bookkeeping, Office Machines and Secretarial Practice. These courses prepare them for jobs. Always helpful, business teachers try to duplicate an office atmosphere as a help to learning.

Below left, Charles Lord, Cheryl Rodenberg and Janice Ebersohl work on the new electric adding listing machines.
Sandy Walls and Pam Trodus, upper right, study advanced secretarial practice under Mrs. Wohlwend.
Miss Widdows, lower right, dictates to beginning stenographers in Shorthand.

In preparation of business procedure and consumer errors, Consumer Education explains and acquaints students, the future consumers, with small businesses, tax preparation, consumer products and theory.

Below, Sonja Schofield reports on current consumer products in Consumer Ed.
Below right, during a timed writing, students concentrate on straight copy typing.
Below right, Mr. Wolke — in the process of teaching bookkeeping — explains assets and liabilities to Mary Hayes and Barry Dickson.



STUDENTS LEARN ABOUT THEIR WORLD

The Social Studies Department at D.C.H.S. offers a varied and interesting program. Classes offered include U.S. History, Social Problems, Cultural Studies, Geography, and World History. These subjects are presented to the students in such a manner as to make their studies both educational as well as interesting. Field trips are taken regarding the subject under discussion and foods are tasted from various countries including the United States.

Mr. Parkhill and Stacy Barker (left) are locating Greenland on the map and globe in Geography class.

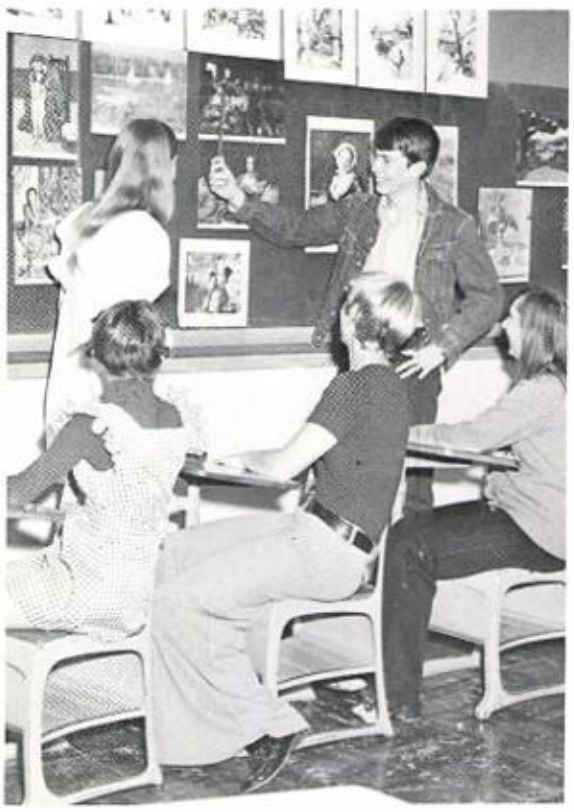
This is a good time to be in Mr. McKinney's Government class since this is a presidential election year. Tommy Carter and Mike Bradley (below) are discussing the election articles in Time.

PAST AND PRESENT

Mr. Malone's Senior History students get involved in current events as well as those of the past. Debbie Morris, Delline Arras, Barbara Stepp, and Robert Dungan (upper left) discuss Mark Spitz and the 1972 Summer Olympics.

This World History class (bottom) under the instruction of Mr. Germain is studying international relations in order to become better informed citizens.

Students in Cultural Studies are studying European art of the nineteenth century under the guidance of Miss Davie Sue Raker.



THE ART OF SELF EXPRESSION

Mrs. Proffer demonstrated the proper way to clean a silk screen to Neil Phelps and Cary Latina (right).

The art classes this year are experimenting with new media. Life-size sculptures, silk-screens, and clay modeling are only a few of the projects they have accomplished.

Sue Hahn, Donna Link, and Donna Warren are hard at work sketching portraits (below).

Jill Williams and Connie Mudd are attempting to mold facial features from clay.

AND THE BEAT GOES ON . . .

During an off moment, Elmer Senn, June Fauerbach, and Lisa Ivy go over their drum routine. (lower right)

The music department at DCHS offers an enjoyable break from the vigorous routine of school. The band directed by Mr. Young provides entertainment during halftime at the home football games and tries to arrange more performances throughout the school year.

Miss Stockglausner's chorus puts on a spring musical and manages to work in several additional concerts and performances.

Kathy Donigan, Wendy Adams, Kim Kelly, Barb Sitzes, and June Fauerbach (left) practice a selection for open house.

GYM CLASSES DEVELOP STAMINA

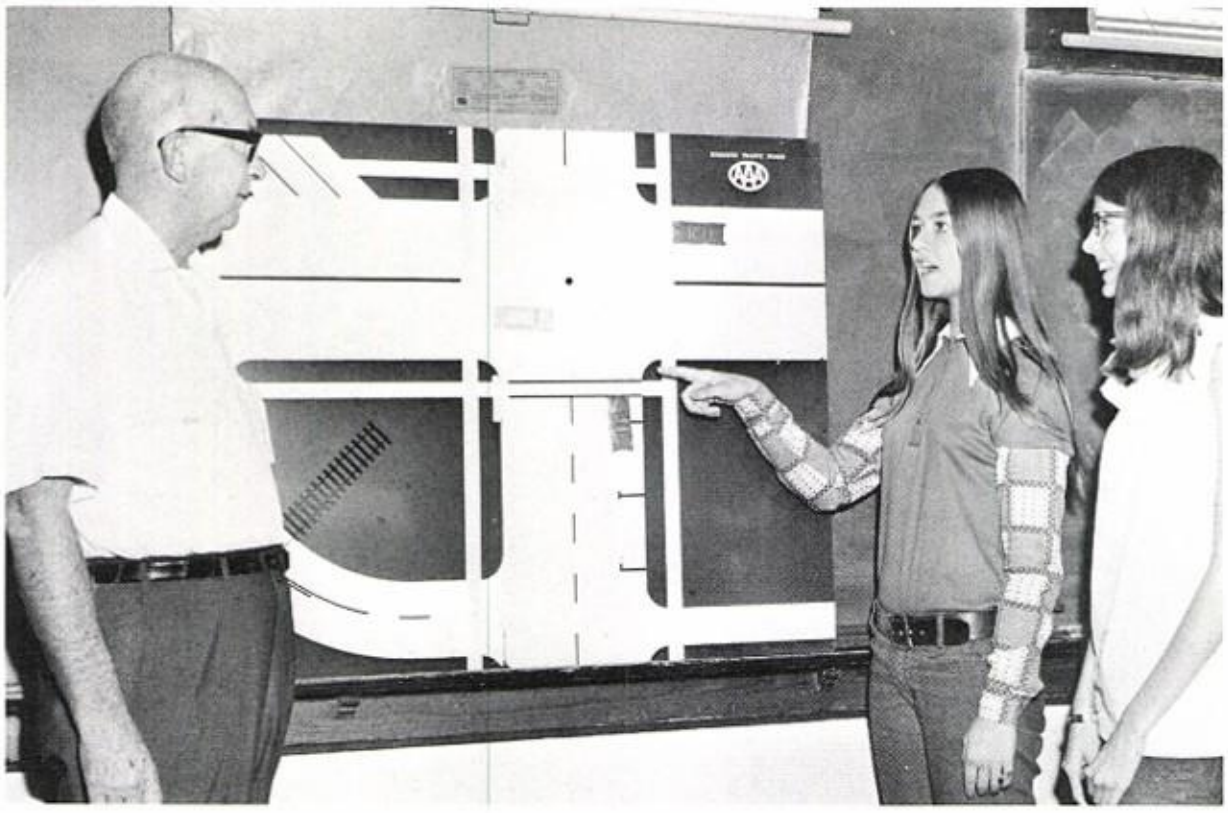
Touch football is primary concern in the fall.

Boys enter D.C.H.S. with the assurance that they will leave as men after they complete four years of gym classes. Mr. Brubaker and Mr. McKinney attempt to instill in the boys a desire for physical excellence.

Sports introduced are: touch football, volleyball, basketball, softball, marine football and soccer, soccer, gymnastics. with the use of the trampoline.

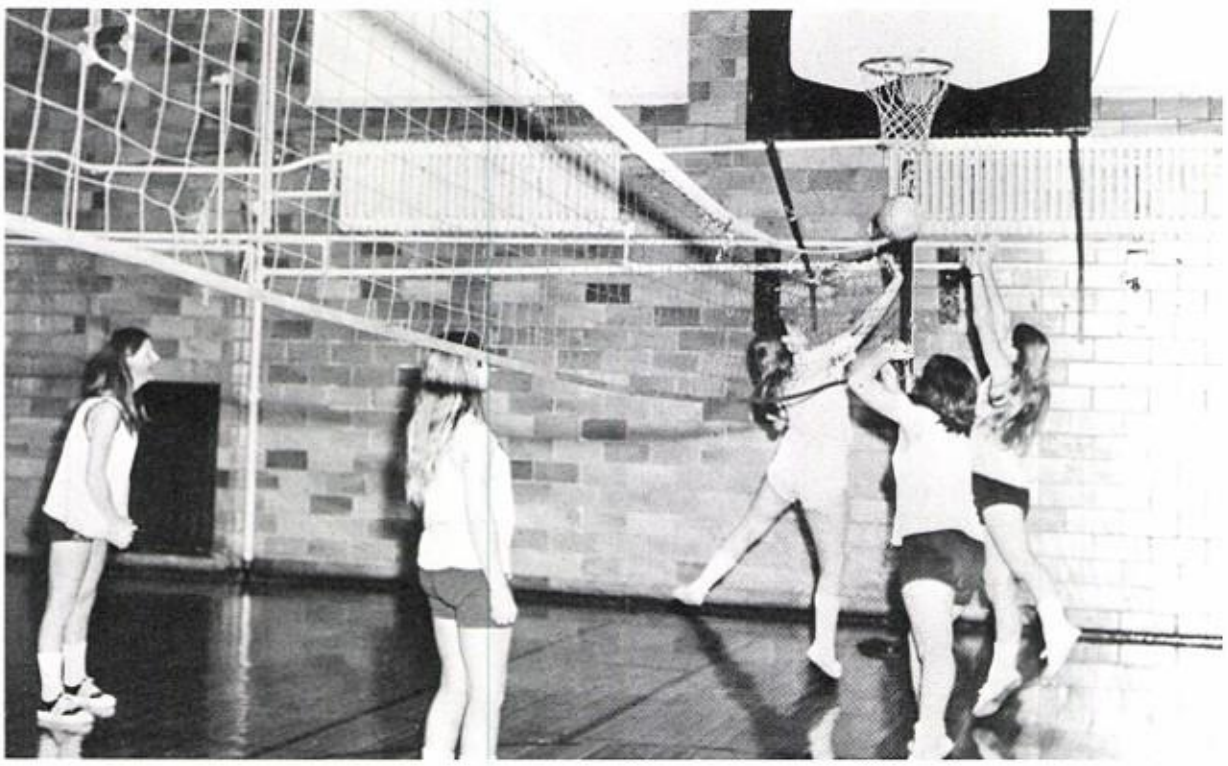
Mr. McKinney and Mark Bradley watch while Bill Barlow "tries out" the trampoline.

STRENGTH, AND AGILITY



Because of the increased accident rate on our nation's highways, driver education has risen in importance in our school's curriculum. Mr. Brubaker tries to instill safe driving habits and common sense as a basis for meeting the course's importance.

Doreen Huetsch and Kathy Dumas ask Mr. Brubaker questions about crossing an intersection.



Miss Sheets tries to instill competitive spirit with sports such as: volleyball, basketball, softball, and soccer. She is introducing gymnastics on the trampoline, and agility with dancing.

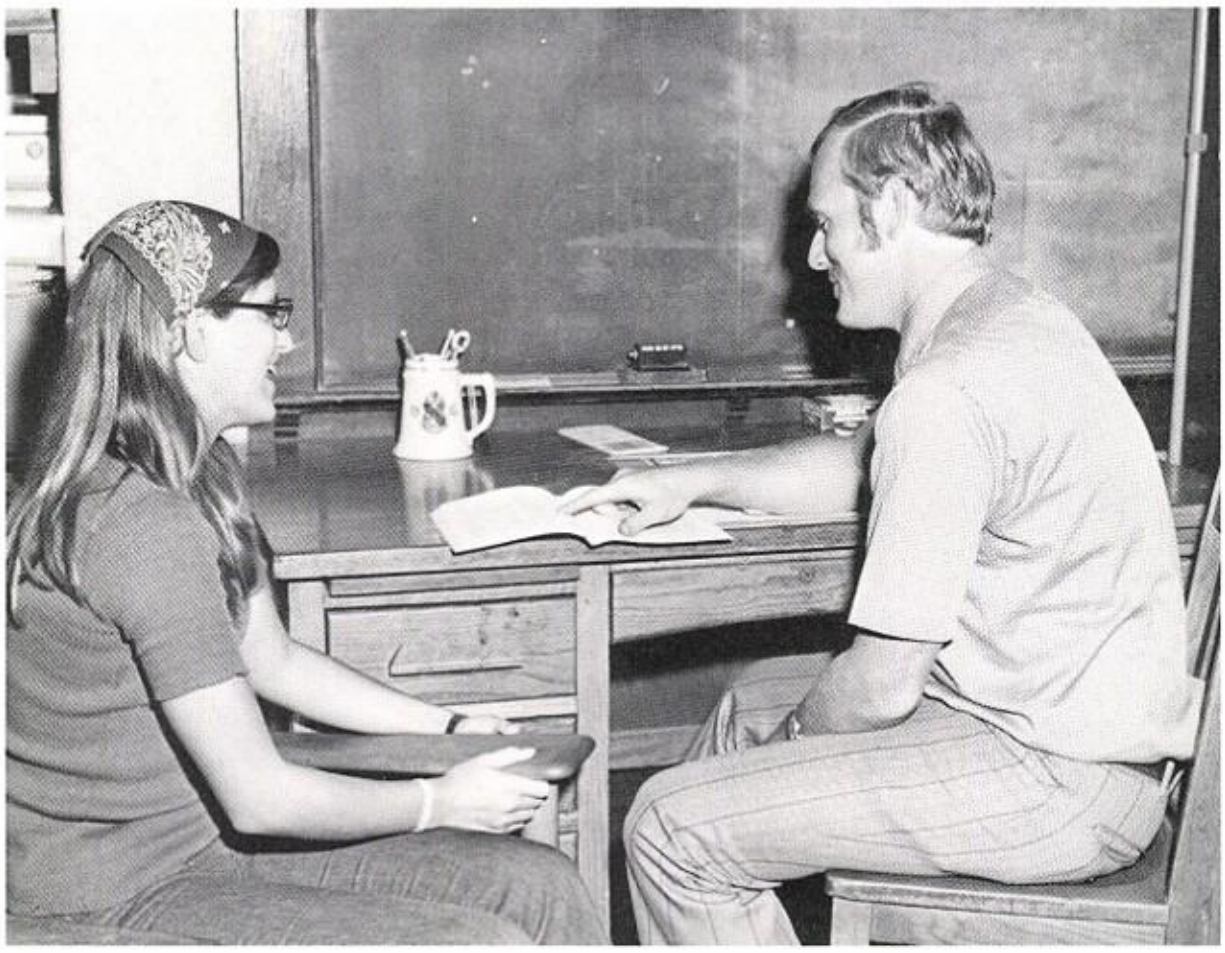
Volleyball is a means of promoting competitive spirit in girls' gym classes.

Adrienne, There isn't enough room in the book to write my feelings. I wish you as much love, happiness, and pleasure out of life. I hope you and Jim much luck.
I hope you can come and see me and Jim also. Write me after I am out there & I write any more I will cry Thank for as awful much.
All My Love,
Cindy Hood

COUNSELORS HELP STUDENTS PREPARE FOR FUTURE

Library assistants give up their study halls to learn many new skills. Mrs. Moore is teaching Debbie Casey, Judy Danback, and Debbie Hall how to check out books.

Mr. Brilhart is advising a senior, Kathy Donigan, about different programs offered in her chosen field.



Mr. Brilhart, Miss Gonnerman, and Mr. Woodfin are counselors who believe in giving a helping hand with any type of problem the students might have. These include personal problems, progress in academics and choice of a future career.

THE ANNUAL STAFF RECORDS

Many hours of hard work go into preparing the yearbook for publication. The staff must try to show through pictures and copy the activities of the school year.

Our cameraman, Mark DeJarnette, catches Carol Caraway in trig class.

Scott Barker and Pat Olsson (below) ponder over typewritten copy.

A VERY GOOD YEAR

The most important quality of a good yearbook staff is enthusiasm. Other qualities that our staff shows, include determination, perspiration, intelligence, talent, diplomacy, and humility.

Mrs. Williamson, sponsor, Kathy Donigan, editor, and Carol Caraway, business manager, are the backbone of our annual staff.

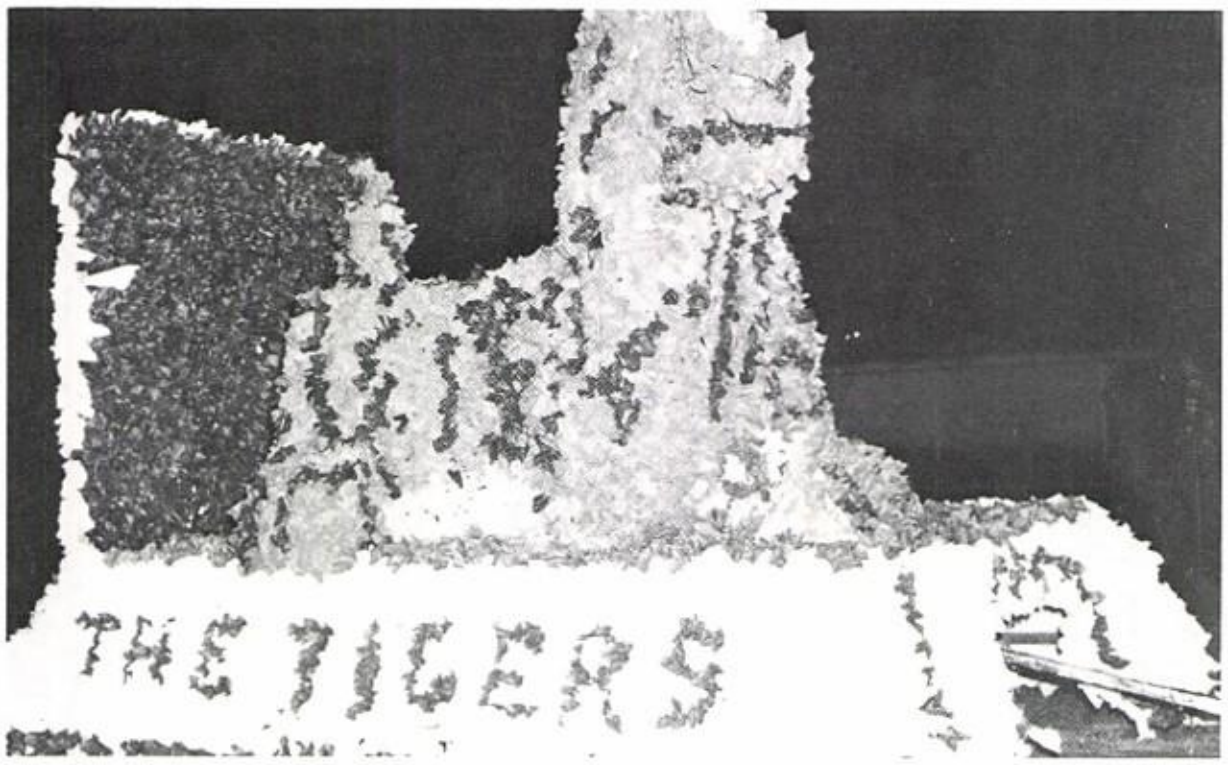
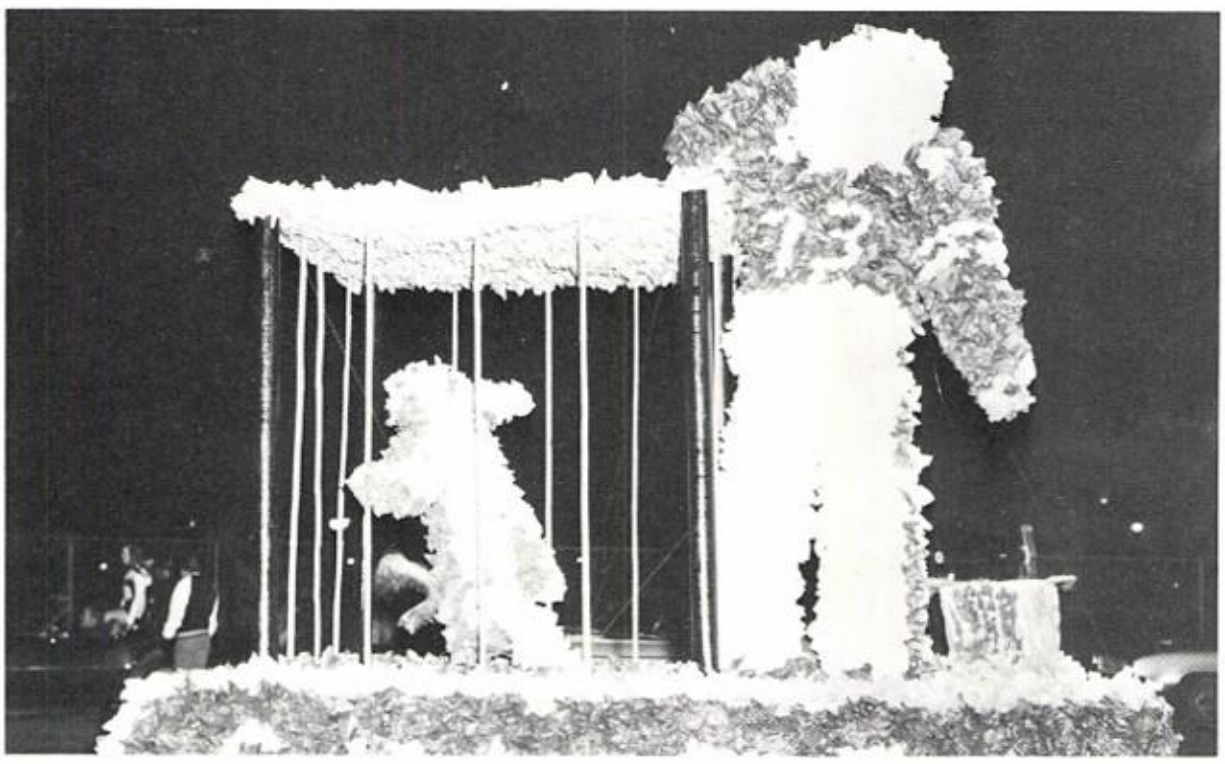
CLASS PARTICIPATION

Ken Wooters, junior class president, accepts the All-School Trophy from Mike Bradley. The senior class placed second. Bryon Wilhelm (top right) accepts the Spirit Trophy. This is the second consecutive year the class of 1976 has received this trophy.





The Day the Eagles Went Bald or Feathers Keep Fallin' on My Head was the theme of the 1972 Homecoming. The winning theme was submitted by the junior and senior classes. Second place in skit competition went to the junior class, and first to the sophomore class. The sophomore class won the spirit stick at the assembly, with the seniors earning second. The junior class float, (middle left), received first place. The senior class float, (lower left), won second place.

On November 16, the Southern Players Touring Theater Company of Southern Illinois University presented SEE HOW THEY RUN, a successful Broadway farce of a few seasons ago. The plot involves an American actress, married to an English vicar; her former leading man, who is mistaken for her husband; a Cockney servant who has seen too many American movies; an old maid who touches alcohol for the first time in her life; four clergymen, one of whom is using the cloth as his disguise to escape prison; and a sedate Bishop who is continually aghast at the mix-ups that constantly occur.

The play which portrayed real people in an unreal situation was well-directed and presented. The actors were well chosen and played their roles with ease.

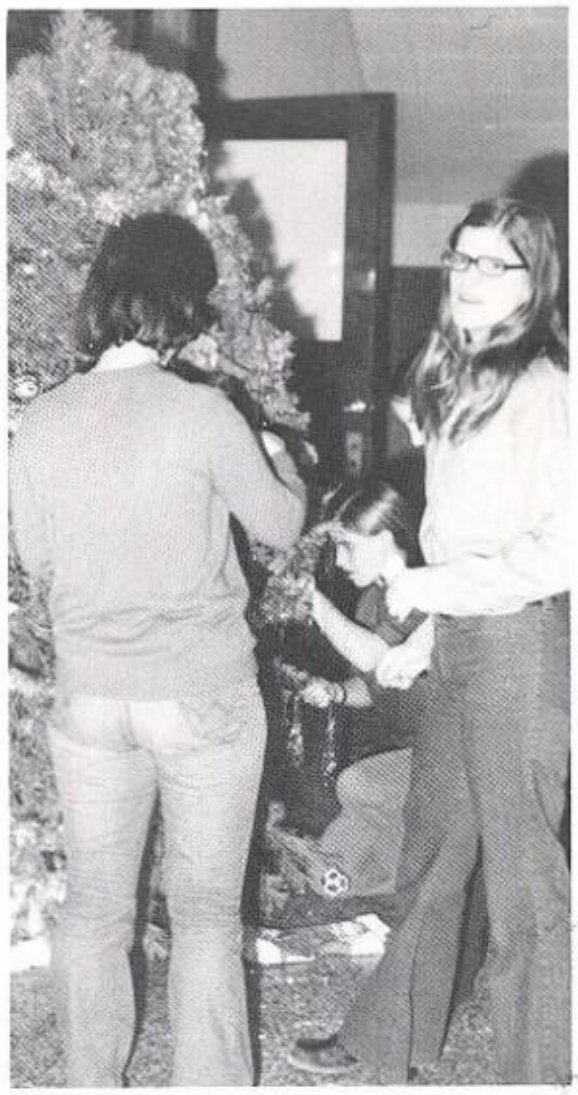
CHRISTMAS COMES TO DCHS

December and the first big snow arrived at the same time. This put the students of Dupo in an early Christmas mood. The members of the Student Council collected canned goods for needy families and IAC repaired old toys for Santa Claus. Mr. Collins' Raggedy Ann and Andy won first place in the door decorating contest and the senior class sponsored a Christmas dance. We missed three days of school because of bad weather, but the most enjoyable Christmas activity was still Christmas vacation.

The band and chorus perform during the Christmas concert. The concert included a medley of traditional Christmas carols and some of the contemporary holiday music of today.



Each year student council decorates the Christmas tree, but sometimes they decorate each other.

Adrienne,
I hope we remain friends for the longest time. Maybe this summer you can spend the night again. (I hope) I'll never forget the many times we understood & listened to each other talks & problems. It's been a lot of fun! I hope we have a lot more fun. I'll be home on Tuesday. Maybe when Jim comes home we can go out. You & Jim & me and have a swell time. Sounds like fun. So keep in touch & don't do anything I wouldn't do. Stay Cool!

Joel & Dave.

THAT'S NOT FAIR!

Name is your last after me. OK?

that each may find a singing solitude and pass

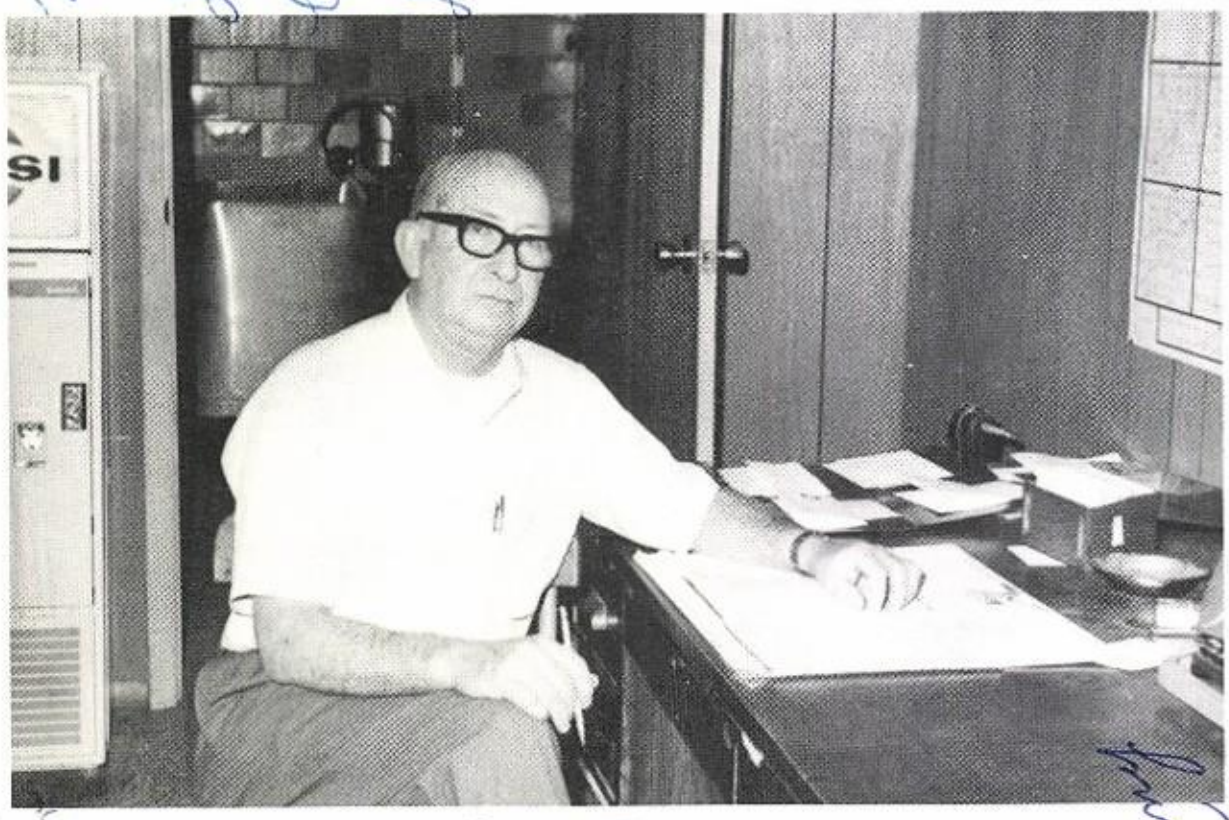
The senior class would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Brubaker for being its class sponsor.



To My Darling Wife.

I will never forget all the goofy times & things we've done during my last year here at good ole Dupo Tech. I wish you and Jim (Jimbo) all the luck in the world. You've got a great personality and so please keep it and you'll go far in life. You've got a wonderful mother and father and I know where you got to be the way you are now with fantastic parents like that. Thanks for all the help you gave me with me and Joe and a few other MAJOR problems. Be good and you'll make it. Don't forget your first husband (me) cause I'll never forget my first wife. Good luck in your last year at Dupo. I hope we remain friends for a very long time.
